A LITTLE COLOR NEVER HURT NOBODY

Creating an image that attracts people to keep looking is a passion. But the story behind it is even more important for me. People are eager to share a good story.

The concept together with the visual result is the total picture; accessible to everyone. I think it's okay to be a little different. With my concepts I want to trigger the viewer and invite them to think. My work is colorful and exudes fun.

I am a researcher and always interested in new developments in order to develop trendforecasts. My background in graphic design and my strong research qualities are a good basis to achieve this total picture.
